

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, signed into law on February 17, 2009, by President Obama, will create and save 3.5 million jobs, give 95 percent of American workers an immediate tax cut, invest in infrastructure projects, and restore science and innovation.

This recovery package will also be fast-acting, with 74 percent of of the package invested by the end of Fiscal Year 2010, according to the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office.

Our aim is to rebuild America, while making us more globally competitive and energy independent, thus transforming our economy for long-term growth.
